Food and Rum Festival

The Soleil Saint Lucia Summer Festival Series has begun. The festival kicked off with the Saint Lucia Food and Rum Festival which was held on 12 – 14 January 2018, offering a slice of the island’s cuisine, rums, restaurants, chefs as well as regionally manufactured products.

The opening ceremony was held at the Bay Gardens Beach Resort and Spa on Friday 12th January 2018. The award winning resort chain was one of the restaurants participating in the festival and featured Food & Rum inspired menus at its Hi Tide and Spices Restaurants as well as contested in the bartending competition.

The first annual Caribbean Rum Awards, stewarded by Caribbean Journal, was introduced on island as a celebration of rum. On Saturday 13th January, the festival took over Rodney Bay, with participating restaurants offering exciting rum infused dishes. Celebrity Chef, Restaurateur and TV Personality, Marcus Samuelsson, headlined the event with a celebrity chef dinner at Coco Palm Resort, adding a St. Lucian twist to the menu from President Obama’s first State Dinner. The festival continued on Sunday 14th January, with an open-air concert at the historic Pigeon Island National Landmark which showcased some of the finest rums and handcrafted creations.

This event invited locals and visitors alike to indulge their palates and savor the flavor of St. Lucia and it did just that, proving to be a destination of choice for food lovers.

Featured Employee - Marcelus Jean

Meet Chef Marcelus Jean:

Executive Sous Chef at the Bay Gardens Hotel's Spices Restaurant

From a very young age Chef Jean, as he is affectionately known, has had an appreciation for food and the art of cooking, a passion which was developed after years of shadowing his mother's cooking. At the tender age of sixteen when an unexpected illness impaired his mother's cooking ability, he was inspired to follow his dream of becoming a professional chef, embracing the culinary styles of his mother.

This highly talented chef has a diverse range in culinary arts, working alongside some of the island's most talented chefs who have motivated and cultivated his culinary skills. Bay Gardens Resorts has contributed to perfecting his various cooking techniques, allowing him to serve up some of the most creative fusion menus. His love for preparing lobster due to its versatility and for experimenting with various food groups, herbs, spices and cooking methods birthed this original lobster menu. It consists of exquisite starters and mains ranging from tropical lobster slaw, jerked lobster baguette and Lucian Lobster Burger to creole lobster, coconut curried lobster and Mediterranean lobster. Chef Jean has placed all his creative flair into creating these uniquely flavoured lobster dishes with an array of herbs and spices, tantalizing your senses and amazing your palate.

Chef Jean's basic cooking philosophy is to acquire specific and interesting tastes. Having developed his deep interest and love for cuisine at a very young age, Chef Jean has never looked back and his culinary flair continues to be recognized with outstanding reviews from guests. When one possesses a jovial and creative personality combined with a passion for creating original and memorable dishes, it tends to destine you for gastronomic greatness.

"Wonderful time with the Fam"

Reviewed by Anthony J

This was a great place for a family vacation. We went with 3 generations of our family from ages 9 to 84 and ALL had a wonderful time. The food was to notch (thought a bit expensive). The beach was nice and access to activities and water sports was very easy. Finally the water park was a big hit with the kids.

“Was a lovely Stay”

Reviewed by Mila L

The stay at Bay Gardens Inn was excellent. Very warm staff, good breakfast, clean rooms and always cleaned on a daily basis. I would choose the Inn over the hotel as the pool is secluded to an extent compared to the hotel. The shuttle service between the properties is good and this allows you to go to the resort on the beach. I really enjoyed my stay and I'll stay there again. The place is close by to a few shopping stores and quite a few restaurants. Keep up the good job guys!!
